What happens between now and shoot day

Nothing else to decide right now. Just these four steps.

1 The Property Brief

Three short questions from you. Five minutes, over email or WhatsApp. It shapes the whole session.

2 Prepare the property

A plain checklist. Nothing here needs money, just time.

3 The photo session

I photograph the spaces, details and experiences that help guests understand and want the stay.

4 Delivery and guidance

Edited images, plus which one should lead and the order for the rest.

Three quick questions

I can see your property in the photos you already have. I can't see why a guest picks it over the place next door, or what they talk about once they've stayed. Only you know that.

WHAT YOUR ANSWERS BECOME

A short Property Brief: your target guest, what makes the property different, the priority shots, and which images are cover candidates. I bring it to the shoot.

Short answers are perfect — a sentence each is plenty. Reply by email or WhatsApp using the pre-filled message on the next page.

REPLY IN A SENTENCE OR TWO

Answer these three

1

Best reason to book here?

A view, a sunrise or sunset from a specific spot, the bed guests always mention, the kitchen — whatever it really is.

2

What do guests mention without being asked?

Check your last few reviews. The word that repeats is usually the answer.

3

Anything specific I should be sure to capture?

A view, a golden-hour moment, a detail that's easy to miss walking through.

Tap a button below — your name, listing and these three questions are already filled in. Just add your answers and send.

Get the space ready

Nothing on this list costs money. It's the highest-impact hour before a shoot.

Beds and bedrooms

- ✓ Beds made properly, cushions and throws straightened
- ✓ Bedside surfaces cleared except one or two intentional items
- ✓ Wardrobe doors closed

Surfaces

- ✓ Kitchen counters cleared of everyday clutter
- ✓ Dining and coffee tables cleared or simply set
- ✓ Personal items, mail and chargers put away

Bathrooms

- ✓ Towels folded or hung straight
- ✓ Toiletries and personal products out of frame

Cables and controls

- ✓ Cables tucked away or out of frame
- ✓ Remotes and controls in one place, not scattered

Exterior and lighting

- ✓ Outdoor furniture straightened, bins out of sight
- ✓ Every lamp and light on, even in daylight
- ✓ Curtains and blinds open unless privacy requires otherwise

If you only have twenty minutes, beds, counters and lighting move the needle most.

Only stage what's really part of the stay

If your guests get a welcome basket, fresh flowers or a bottle on arrival, have it ready. It's a real part of the experience and it's worth showing.

What we won't photograph as a promise is anything a guest won't normally receive. Not because it looks bad in a photo. Because it becomes an expectation your guests will hold you to.

THE TEST WE USE

Would a guest arriving at the property feel the photos were honest? If not, we don't shoot it that way.

What to expect

- ✓ Arrival within the confirmed window
- ✓ Roughly one to two hours, depending on the size of the property
- ✓ You don't need to be there, but someone should be reachable
- ✓ Pets secured somewhere they won't wander into frame

Weather

If outdoor photos matter and the weather is against us, we reschedule where possible rather than shoot it badly.

Delivery and what's included

Edited images arrive digitally within 3 to 5 business days, ready for your listing.

- ✓ Which image should lead your listing, and why
- ✓ A recommended order for the rest of the gallery
- ✓ One round of revisions on brightness, colour and selection

The remaining balance is due on delivery. The deposit you've already paid confirmed the booking.

Better photos help guests understand and trust the stay. They don't guarantee bookings, ranking or revenue – those depend on price, location, season, reviews and demand too.
